DEDICATION

The staff of this publication dedicates its humble efforts to General Charles P. Summerall, a distinguished gentleman, a cherished friend, and a leader whom the Corps of Cadets is supremely proud to follow.

FOREWORD

Welcome! We, the handbook staff, are happy to be the first to extend it to you, members of the incoming Freshman Class and returning upperclassmen. We sincerely hope that this humble effort on our part to present a picture of life at The Citadel may be of help to you in securing the greatest possible benefits from your career while here.

Our purpose in this handbook has been to sketch an outline picture of The Citadel. We have, perhaps, fallen far short of our mark—to inform the new students of the traditions, the organizations, the leaders, and the customs of our school. Cadet life is difficult—for the lazy. The real cadet finds ample time for recreation and wholesome pleasure without neglecting his serious work of securing his education.

Above all else, we wish to impress upon the members of the class of 1937 the value of the famous "Bull Dog Spirit". It is that intangible something which brings out in Citadel cadets an amazing amount of ability and success. Without attempting to define this spirit, we venture to suggest as its principal elements three things: 1.) alertness, 2.) obedience without grumbling, and 3.) manliness. We hope that every new man this year will enter The Citadel with the intention of acquiring and developing these three qualities at least. The "Bull Dog Spirit" has carried over powerful odds on numberless occasions in the past and in all phases of cadet activity—athletic, scholastic, and social. It is what makes Citadel men always Citadel men.

BRIEF SKETCH OF HISTORY OF THE Y. M. C. A.

The Young Men's Christian Association had its origin in one man, Sir George Williams of London in the year 1844. In his early life, George felt the need of daily prayer and spiritual uplift to such a strong degree that he called his friends together each morning in a little room in his establishment for a few minutes of prayer and praise service. Thus did the "Y" get its start, and ever since that date it has been growing each year being better able to serve the cause of humanity and to aid in the spread of the doctrines and teachings of Jesus Christ. Today the organization encircles the globe, daily bringing together young men and boys into a brotherhood which keeps alive the spirit of Christ.

In order that the young men of the colleges of the world might keep in closer touch with things spiritual and that the Christian Spirit might reign in the hearts of students everywhere, a branch of the Y. M. C. A., the Student Young Men's Christian Association, has been organized. The Citadel of course is a member of this powerful organization. The control of the affairs of the Association is placed in the hands of the students themselves for the purpose of training them in the qualities of Christian leadership, with a general secretary to oversee the work and to advise. The realization of the purposes and principles, of this student organization depends upon the interest and the wholehearted support of all students, for it is strictly their organization.

THE WORK OF THE ASSOCIATION

In seeking to accomplish the purpose for which the association has been organized, the full needs of the whole man are recognized. All normal healthy developments of cadet life are regarded as sacred and contributing to the ultimate aim of human life. To neglect a proper development along all lines of student endeavor leads to a one-sided education. Therefore, the "Y" seeks to aid in every phase of activity that is regarded as proper.

The "Y" sponsors religious work of all kinds, social activities, sports, and recreation. In its religious work, the association conducts a prayer service every Tuesday morning for the benefit of all who care to attend, special services every Sunday night with varied forms of entertainment, and brief chapel services each morning in the mess hall before the Corps marches out from breakfast. It sends delegations to the Conference at Blue Ridge and the State Y. M. C. A. Officers' Conference at Columbia. Also, during the year a course in Bible study by eminent leaders in religious work is given.

The "Y" assists materially in the intramural athletic program which is properly a function of the athletic department and is carried on principally by that body.

Other phases of the work of the Y. M. C. A. are too numerous to mention and the results are impossible to ascertain; but one may rest assured that everything possible is done "to lead young men to faith in God through Jesus Christ."

To aid the "Y" secretary in the undertakings of the association, several cadet committees are listed under the headings: Post Office & "Y" Office. Bible Study, Chapel Committee, Music Committee, Freshmen Council, Sophomore Council, Hospital Committee, Publicity, Personal Work, and Athletic Committee. Besides being of great help in carrying on the work of the organization, these committees help to inculcate into the minds of students that the "Y" is essentially a student affair that its success depends upon their support and cooperation.

Freshmen and other students, you will not act unwisely by taking part in the activities of such an organization.

MEMBERSHIP

All students at matriculation become members of the Young Men's Christian Association of The Citadel. According to the rule of the National Council, the membership is divided into two classes, namely: active and associate. The active membership is composed of those students who are members of and in good standing with an evangelical church. These students alone are eligible to vote and hold office in the association. The associate members, students who do not come under the above ruling, are accorded all other privileges. This division should not cause any friction in the activities of the "Y" and as long as the aim of each cadet is service to God and his fellowman, this will not.

COUNCIL WORK

Early in 1933 two members of the Freshman class, inspired by attendance upon a conference, expressed a desire to see their fellow-classmen working in a council. A member of the local Exchange Club contributed lumber and nails and a council ring was built just across the railroad tracks. Here each Friday night the council, composed of twenty-five leaders, each with five members of his group, meets for social, religious, or business session. This group will carry on through its four years. Certain members of last year's council have been selected to organize the Freshmen council for the coming year.

CABINET SPRING RETREAT

Six years ago, in the Spring of 1924, there was started what is known as the Spring Retreat for the Cabinet. This proved of such value, that it is now an annual affair, and we look forward to it with a great deal of pleasure and promise. The newly-elected officers and committee chairman, with members of the faculty and general secretary, withdraw from the college and city noise to a quiet place, often in some nearby community where we are certain of shelter and a good square meal. There we discuss problems of the campus, map out just what is the best program for the next year, and take stock of our own personal lives. This Retreat is serving an excellent place in the work of the "Y" and will be kept up.

SERVICE TO STUDENTS

The Citadel "Y" is first and foremost a serving organization. Christ said: "I am among you as one that serveth." We feel that the "Y" carries out the Christian ideal, if it serves cadets in any way possible. The various duties performed by members of the cabinet and officers, working with the general secretary, are part of the "Y's" program. The post office is the biggest piece of service that is tendered, for the "Y" takes entire charge of this service to the college. Errands attended to in the city by our secretary are right in line with the work, and you must call on him if you wish a little business attended to. Other services rendered are: daily visits to hospitals, valuables and money kept in safe, telegrams received and sent, express shipments handled, kodak work, canteen checks cashed at bank, and many things that arise during the year. Make the "Y" your own by calling on her for little kindnesses.

BIBLE STUDY AND DISCUSSION GROUPS

The entire first term of the college year is turned over to Bible Study as the main feature of the "Y" program. Each Sunday night for ten weeks Bible study classes are organized in both barracks. There are two groups of upper-classmen and four more of Freshmen. Strong, influential leaders are secured from local churches and faculty members, who give of their best to broaden the outlook and build the best characters of the student body. You won't find the time devoted to this thrown away; in fact it will enhance greatly your college standing.

After Christmas, the Bible study classes are replaced by song services and special services bringing special music, entertainment, and speakers.

BLUE RIDGE

Each year from June 15th, to 25th, there gather at Blue Ridge, N. C., over three hundred young men from colleges representing ten of the Southern states. These young men represent the YMCA and other religious organizations on their campuses, and come together for no other reason than to study problems relative to their colleges, enjoy the mountain climate and to find themselves as to life work and attitudes toward things religious. If you feel that you would like to really get under "where God speaks to man in no uncertain way," go to Blue Ridge next summer. A delegation is always sent from The Citadel "Y" and you can go just as well as another. Expenses are moderate, yet are ample to give one real satisfactory service while at the conference. Volley ball and all athletic sports are made an interesting and competitive part of the ten day period, and you may represent your college in one or more branches. ON TO BLUE RIDGE ! !

"Y" OFFICE AND POST OFFICE

Along with the many services that the "Y" renders the Corps of Cadets, goes the post office, which is not in any way the least of these services. It affords you every convenience that your home town office does, and can give all the services that you will need here. Stamps, money orders issued and cashed, registry and insured mail, etc. The hours for the mail are: Departs daily, except Sunday and Saturday, 8:30 A. M. and 12.30 P. M.: Arrives daily, except Sunday and Saturday, 9:30 A. M. and 2:30 P. M. Ready for you about 10:15 A. M. and 2:45 P. M. On Sunday and Saturday mail arrives in morning only. Big U. S. Mail boxes outside of both barracks are for mail only after 3:00 P. M. every day, as it is emptied only at 8:50 P. M. every day.

Cash Depository: This is for your allowances and extra cash which you don't want to carry around with you. Hours are: Monday, Wednesday, and Friday of each week, both deposits and withdrawals. Come by "Y" and talk this special service over with the Secretary.

Secretary and Assistants are on duty practically all day, and you can always find access to the "Y" office if you wish it, but help us keep the above hours strictly business, and there won't be any trouble.

MORNING WATCH SERVICES

Each Tuesday morning immediately after breakfast, morning watch services are held in each barracks in one of the class rooms on the first floor. These brief services are in the charge of a regular morning watch committee, which strives to give all cadets who so desire it an opportunity to begin the day aright. At these meetings, a short text from Scripture is quoted by the cadet in charge after which sentence prayers are offered. With the full and busy schedule which a Citadel cadet generally finds at his disposal daily, it is to his advantage to be able to begin attending the morning watch service. Much benefit is derived from them.

HISTORICAL SKETCH

Previous to the year 1842, the State of South Carolina had two depositories for its arms and munitions of war — one known as The Citadel, in the City of Charleston; the other known as The Arsenal, in the City of Columbia. These were guarded by companies of enlisted men and trained officers, and were maintained at an expense of twenty-four thousand dollars per annum.

It was Governor Richardson who made the suggestion that these garrisons be replaced by young men, who, while serving as guards should receive military training, and instruction in the practical and mechanical arts. Under the administration of his successor, Governor Hammond, an Act of the Legislature was passed, on December 20, 1842, creating The Citadel and Arsenal Academies.

The Board appointed by the Governor to carry out the purpose of the Act lost no time in performing its duty, and the Faculty of The Citadel was elected on February 23rd following. By the twentieth of March, both The Citadel and the Arenal were in operation.

In arranging the course of studies for The Citadel, the report of the Board to the General Assembly says:

"The Board has aimed at a system of education at once scientific and practical, and which, if their original design is carried out, will eminently qualify the cadets there taught for almost any station and condition of life.

"During the course, besides the usual branches taught at the primary schools in the State, they will be instructed in the history of South Carolina, modern history, the French language, every department of mathematics, bookkeeping, rhetoric, moral philosophy, architectural and topographical drawing, natural philosophy, chemistry, geology, mineralogy, botany, civil and military engineering, the constitutional law of the United States, and the law of nations. In addition to that course, they will be instructed in the duties of the soldier, the school of the company and the battalion, the science of war, the evolution of the line, and the duties of commissioned officers."

The Arsenal, at first co-equal with The Citadel, was soon incorporated with it, and had for its special function the instruction and training of the recruits forming what was known as the Fourth Class.

The first class, numbering six men, was graduated in 1846. C. C. Tew, the first honor man of his class, and proto-graduate of the institution, afterwards founded the Hillsboro Military Academy, North Carolina, was Colonel of North Carolina troops in the Confederate Army, and was killed at Sharpsburg, September, 1862, while commanding Anderson's brigade.

The value to the State of the military training given at The Citadel is strikingly shown by the fact that, of the two hundred and forty graduates before the close of the War between the States, about two hundred were officers in the Confederate service, and forty-three laid down their lives upon the battlefield.

The list of Citadel officers in that great conflict is an honor roll of which any institution may well be proud.

There are two dates in the history of the State Military Academies which mark the boundaries of this greatest military struggle of the century. Between January 9, 1861, and May 9, 1865, what a tragic history was enacted!

On the former date, Maj. P. F. Stevens, Superintendent, and a graduate of The Citadel, in command of a detachment of Citadel Cadets manning a battery of 24-pounders on Morris Island drove off the steamer, "Star of the West," which was attempting the relief of Fort Sumter—thus firing the first hostile shot of the War.

On the latter date, Captain J. P. Thomas, Superintendent of The Arsenal, and also a graduate of The Citadel, with the cadets at his command, had a skirmish with Stoneman's raiders, near Williamston, S. C., thus firing the last shot of the War delivered by any organized body of troops east of the Mississippi River.

At the present time, the Corps of Cadets has an annual drill for the "Star of the West" medal, a handsome trophy for the best-drilled cadet of the Corps presented to the institution many years ago by Dr. B. H. Teague, a veteran of the War. This medal gets its name from a piece of oak wood, in the form of a star, taken from the historic vessel.

At the fall of Charleston, in February, 1865, The Citadel was occupied by Federal troops. The Corps of Cadets was at that time in the field in the upper part of the State, and never returned to the institution, which continued in the hands of the United States military authorities, in spite of the best efforts of the State to recover it until 1881.

In that year, Governor Hagood said in his annual message to the General Assembly:

"The State Military Academy at Charleston has been suspended in its operations since the late Civil War. This has been due to the fact that the building known as The Citadel, in which it has its seat, has been since the close of the War in the possession of the United States authorities, and has been used by them until recently as a military post.

"It is understood that the General Government is now prepared to restore it to the custody of the State. It is desirable that this property be recovered and again devoted to the purpose of higher education, in the facilities for which our needs are greater than the source of supply.

"A measure will probably be submitted to you at this session to accomplish this purpose and you will permit me to say that, in my judgment, it is now practicable to reopen the school, and it ought to be done."

The Citadel was reopened on October 1, 1882, with 189 cadets, and has been in continuous and successful operation ever since.

In 1910, the Legislature fixed the title of the institution as "The Citadel, The Military College of South Carolina."

In 1918, the City of Charleston offered the State a magnificent tract of nearly 200 acres of land adjacent to Hampton Park, and beautifully situated on the banks of the Ashley River, for a "Greater Citadel." The Legislature accepted the offer and made in 1919 and 1920 appropriations for the necessary buildings.

On September 20, 1922, the college opened in its commodious new quarters, which had been provided at a cost of more than a million dollars. The facilities in laboratories and classrooms have been largely increased, dormitory accommodations have been enlarged forty per cent. and ample and beautiful grounds for all military work and athletic activities have been provided.

The "Mary Bennett Murray Hospital," erected at a cost of $60,000.00 by a public-spirited citizen of Charleston, was presented to the college in 1923, and is one of the most complete and well-equipped infirmaries in the South. In this year, also, the Alumni Gymnasium was erected with a fund of $50,000.00 subscribed by graduates and former cadets.

During the year 1926, a new dormitory was constructed to accommodate 350 additional cadets. This building is called "Andrew B. Murray Barracks", in honor of the citizen of Charleston who generously contributed half the cost of the construction.

In the year 1927, two faculty houses were constructed on the campus, one for the president, and the other, containing four apartments, for administrative officers and professors. In 1931, another building was erected to provide quarters for the dean and the commandant.

GENERAL SUMMERALL

General Charles Pelot Summerall was elected by the Board of Visitors President of the Citadel in January of 1931. He actually took over his duties at the beginning of the fall term of the same year. He relieved Colonel Oliver J. Bond, who held this office for twenty-three years and who is now Dean of the college and head of the mathematics department.

General Summerall was born at Lake City, Florida, March 5, 1867. He attended Porter Military Academy in Charleston graduating, in 1885, and then went to the U. S. Military Academy at West Point. In 1892 he graduated from that institution and received his commission as a second lieutenant in the regular army. He advanced steadily in rank and became a colonel on May 15, 1917. In the same year he was promoted to brigadier general and in the following year was made a major general. By an Act of Congress he was made a general in 1929.

A veteran soldier, General Summerall has seen service in the Spanish-American War, the World War, in Alaska, and in the Philippines. He was appointed Chief-of-Staff of the U. S. Army in 1926, retiring in 1930.

Upon his breast rest many medals and awards given to him by the U. S. Government and the Allied Governments for his service and personal valor.

With such a distinguished gentleman at its head, The Citadel is certain to increase its already great prestige and become one of the greatest schools in the country.

THE SCHOLARSHIP MEDAL

A scholarship medal is awarded every year to the member of the Graduating Class who has made the highest average during the four years at The Citadel. To merit this award is indeed an honor and indicates a true superiority in the work accomplished during the college career.

THE "WILLSON RING"

This ring, given each year by Dr. John O. Willson, late President of Lander College, is awarded to the member of the Senior Class voted by his classmates "the purest, most courteous, and most manly" cadet in his class. This award is the most highly valued honor that a man can receive at the completion of his four years at The Citadel.

THE LIBRARY

One of the most important complements of any college is its library. It is the final authority on almost any subject. It can give to the mind a broadness that would require years of travel and experience to obtain otherwise. Ability to use the library will be of infinite advantage both in the classroom and in other affairs even in post-college life.

The Citadel library is located on the second floor of Bond Hall. In it may be found works of various kinds:—scientific, historical, classical; in general they are along lines of study pursued at The Citadel and enough information is obtainable to make students well-informed if proper use is made of the library. Besides these, there is found good fiction and recreational readings, besides periodicals on current events and current literature.

OUR MILITARY RECORD

The Citadel, The Military College of South Carolina, although at first established as a depository for arms and munitions of war, is now a college that ranks high in both its military and academic lines of instruction. Although academic instruction is now primary, our military instruction is so thorough that we have established a military record that any institution would be proud of. Since the establishment of the college in 1842, The Citadel alumni and cadets have played prominent parts in the history of the state, and indeed, in some cases, important parts in the history of the nation. Their services were invaluable to this state in that deadly struggle, the War Between the States; and invaluable to the nation in the later and fiercer conflict, the World War. The list of Citadel officers in both of these wars is an honor roll of which any institution of instruction, and any state should be proud. Citadel men have fought for the state on the field of battle, they have fought for the state in time of peace, and they are still fighting, and will continue to do so with all their might, for the good of the state and the nation.

The training which the cadets receive has met the heartiest commendation of the War Department, which has for many years rated the institution as a "Distinguished College." The value of the training to the country is recognized by the government, which furnishes expensive equipment, and details competent army officers for the instruction of the cadets in the Infantry and Artillery Units of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps. The value of this instruction in the duties of the soldier, the science of war, the evolution of the line, and the duties of commissioned officers, is shown by the actions of the men in actual combat.

The complete and generous education which the cadets receive at The Citadel fits them to perform skilfully and justly all the offices of a citizen, both private and public, in time of peace and in time of war. The regular habits, the attention to duty, the obedience to authority, and the love of order instilled into the cadets enable them to live lives of value and worth to mankind. The Citadel has certainly had every reason to be proud of its alumni.

THE "W. C. WHITE" MEDAL

This medal is given annually by Mr. W. C. White to the captain of the prize company. The members of the company are also permitted to wear on the left sleeve of the Full-Dress Uniform a three-inch bar of gold braid. The awards are made as a result of a competitive drill by companies.

"STAR OF THE WEST" MEDAL

Each year a competitive drill in the manual of arms is held for the "Star of the West" Medal, a handsome trophy presented to the institution many years ago by Dr. B. H. Teague, a veteran of the Civil War. This medal gets its name from a piece of wood in the shape of a star, taken from the historic vessel of the same name. The competition is only open to members of the three lower classes in order that the winner may wear it as a cadet. It always elicits much interest and keen competition.

ATHLETICS

Your body is a safety deposit vault that it is strong and secure.

COACHES

Tatum W. Gressette, director of athletics has been reelected to this position for the coming year. He turned out a fighting team last year and one that, in view of the scarcity of reserves and other difficulties, reflected credit on himself and The Citadel. Besides having put the routine work of coaching on a highly successful plane, Coach Gressette has won the admiration and enthusiastic cooperation of every man on his teams. He builds men as well as athletic machines.

For the coming year, if plans work out favorably, it is hoped to have Gressette at the helm as head coach of football and Ephie Seabrook and George Rogers, both Citadel men, as varsity assistants. Lieutenants George C. Stewart and Ray E. Dingeman, Army officers and instructors of Military Science and Tactics, are expected to take charge of the Freshman squad. With such an able staff of coaches, the 1933 Citadel teams should provide some interesting contests.

Johnny Douglas, also a Citadel man, and an All-American high school basketball player for two successive years, coached the varsity cage team last year and did a creditable job in spite of many factors against him. Gene Clark, star of 1931, produced an excellent freshman team, from which are many prospects for the varsity for the coming year.

BULL DOG SPORTSMANSHIP

The Citadel has always had the sort of sportsmanship that leaves nothing more to be desired. It might be described as combining the tenacity and never-say-die spirit of a real bulldog with the fair and square courteousness of a true gentleman. The Corps follows its teams to a man, in encouraging and inspiring undimmed hopes for victory until the last whistle, but this desire for victory has never yet fallen into poor sportsmanship. Such a spirit will be of infinite worth in after life, so find it as soon as you reach The Citadel.

FOOTBALL

The 1932 football team entered its season in almost mid-season form. Outweighed, pre-game under-dogs, pushed back and run over in the opening minute of the game, a fighting Bull Dog team came back with a rush to drive a big and game Erskine team under the shadow of its own goal posts time after time and to run up a 19 to 0 score in the first game of the season.

Fast, smashing line play brought the Blue and White out on the winning end of a 12-6 score against V. M. I. The Bull Dogs scored on two blocked punts while V. M. I. made hers on passes, all coming in the second quarter. V. M. I. rolled up yardage on long drives, but The Citadel team carried the fight to their opponents.

After fighting the Florida 'Gators to a standstill in the first half, The Citadel team weakened in the second half and went down to a 27-7 defeat at Gainesville, Fla. Tommie Faulkner ran 75 yards for The Citadel score. The Bull Dogs lost the services of Jeff Clark, star end, whose broken leg kept him out of football and basketball for the rest of the year.

The game at home with Davidson produced brilliant and stirring football before the Bull Dogs finally won out by 7-6 score. Beautiful punts and returns of punts featured the game on both sides. Captain Larkin Jennings gave the cadets the deciding edge by his superb performance in the latter department.

The fighting Bull Dogs fought gallantly to hold Furman scoreless in the first half of the game at the Orangeburg Fair, but finally went down before the ultimate State Champions by a score of 20-0. It was simply a case of too much power and reserve strength in the opposition.

Cracking after five straight hard games, the Bull Dogs slipped in the first half of the Homecoming game with Clemson, allowing their opponents 18 points and not scoring themselves. But it was a true Citadel team that came back to frighten the Clemson Tiger in the second half, scoring once and making many dangerous threats. The final score was 18-6 in favor of the Tiger.

On Armistice Day the Citadel's "Iron Men" melted in the second half to lose to a smooth-running P. C. team, after holding to even terms in the first half.

The loss of Hugh King, stellar punter, contributed much to the downfall of the worn Bull Dogs. The final score was 27-0 in P. C.'s favor.

Fighting brilliantly as in early-season games, the Citadel team struggled desperately with the tremendous power and endless reserve strength of Carolina in Columbia, only to succumb by a score of 19-0. King's punting was again sadly needed. About half of the Corps attended the game and enjoyed several dances at the University.

Held for three quarters by the stout defense of the Wofford Terriers, Captain Jennings led the Bull Dogs to a 13-0 victory in the last game of the season at Spartanburg on Thanksgiving Day. His running and the superb punting of Hugh King were the deciding factors in the game.

Bull Dog veterans who will be missed this year by graduation are: Jennings, McCraw, Mitchell, King, Smith, Arnold, and Crosby. There will still be such men as Captain-elect Ogilvie, Quarterman, Symmes, Kelly, Baker, Faulkner, Fonvielle, Rivers, Workman, Welborn, Dingle, and Suhrstedt, as well as promising material from the 1932 Freshman team.

BASKETBALL

The Blue and White basketball team, hitting a prolonged slump at the very beginning of the season of 1933, lost all but four of its games. Except for the games against unusually strong teams from Carolina and Furman, the other games were decided by luck or momentary Citadel laxness. However, the Bulldogs pulled out of their slump and displayed superb form in running away with the series with the College of Charleston for the city intercollegiate title. The 1933-'34 Bulldogs will come from the following: Quarterman, Suhrstedt, Mize, McAlister, McGee, Dibble, Welch, Morrah, Kasin, Dorrill, Pender, Boneta.

FRESHMAN ATHLETICS

Freshman football is carried on principally as a means of training new men in the fundamentals peculiar to The Citadel coaching system. The 1932-'33 team, however, provided some interesting games in winning from P. C. and Newberry Freshmen and from Augusta Academy and losing hard-fought games to Carolina Freshmen and Porter Military Academy.

The basketball team made a creditable showing in the City Interscholastic league, in spite of financial difficulties, which also prevented competition other than that as members of the league.

FENCING TEAM

Reorganized after a lapse of several years, the fencing team of 1932-'33 made notable progress and developed some excellent material for the coming year under the able management of Cadets Smoak and Harbordt. The team lost two matches to Rollins College and one to the University of Florida, but all of them were closely contested. Those who are expected to be valuable members of the 1933-'34 squad are: Smoak, Harbordt, Nelson, V. G., Cothran, Tourtellot, Leonard, Furman, Warren, T. D., and Babb.

RIFLE TEAM

Under the supervision of Captain McGee and the captaincy of Cadet M. L. Powell, the rifle team had a very interesting and successful year. Telegraphic matches were fired with Western Maryland College, North Carolina State College, Texas A. and M., Montana State College, Presbyterian College, University of Minnesota, Lehigh University, Connecticut Agricultural College, Washington University, and the University of Tennessee. Outstanding prospects for the coming year are McMillan, Buist, Starkes, Williams, J. B., Cantrell, Horton, and Thornley.

INTRAMURAL ATHLETICS

Intramural sports were introduced by Col. Lang during the 1931-'32 session and proved extremely successful in furthering the physical development of the members of the Corps of Cadets. The schedule for last season included competition among company teams in Soccer, Tag Football, Volleyball, Horse-shoe Pitching, Deck Tennis, and Basketball. Two hours each Saturday morning are devoted exclusively to athletics. At the end of the season trophies are awarded to the winning teams in each league. Every available space on the campus is used to provide grounds for the contests. The gymnasium is used for basketball.

CHEER LEADERS

Citadel cheering has always been noted all over the State and even over the United States. The entire corps backs its teams with its never-say-die spirit and its determination whether the teams win or lose. It is quite a task for the cheer leaders to teach and organize the cheers and yells so that the natural enthusiastic cheering at the games will be turned into organized applause which has been the distinctive feature of Citadel cheering sections. There are three cheer leaders: one representing each of the three upper classes. Each year the sophomore class elects its representative and he acts as such until the class graduates.

ALMA MATER

On the shores of South Carolina
Proudly rears its head.
All hail to thee, our Alma Mater,
Conquer and prevail!
Loyal sons will ever love thee,
Honor, and obey.
All hail to thee our Alma Mater.
Citadel, all hail!

BLUE AND WHITE

Blue and White, White and Blue.
Citadel, Citadel, here's to you!
Hurrah-rah; Hurrah-ray.
Who will win this game today?
Citadel. Citadel. Citadel.

RAMBLE

Citadel had a Bull Dog with short and grizzly hair,
Carolina had a Gamecock, now wouldn't that make a pair?
And when they get together, there's bound to be a scrap
Just watch that Citadel Bull Dog wipe the Gamecock off the map.
They rambled, they rambled,
They rambled all around, in and out of town,
Oh, they rambled, they rambled,
They rambled 'till the Bull Dog cut him down.

BULL DOG GROWL

Bull Dogs. Bull Dogs. Bull Dogs
Gr-r-r-r! Gr-r-r-r-r-r-!
Citadel! Citadel!! Citadel!!!

CITADEL, HERE'S TO YOU

Citadel, here's to you.
Citadel, you're true blue.
You're the best old place to go;
A darn good place to know
And you bet we'll fight for you.
Citadel, eat 'em up.
Citadel, beat 'em up.
For we'll twist the Tiger's tail
And we'll ride him on the rail,
For we're from The Citadel.

BOOK V.ACTIVITIES

"Definite work is not always that which is cut and squared for us". — Elizabeth M. Sewell.

THE BULL DOG

The BULL DOG is the official weekly newspaper of the Corps of Cadets. In it are to be found accounts of every cadet activity, editorials, news from other colleges, open forums; in fact, a complete record of what is happening at the school. The staff is composed of cadets who are interested in journalism and writing. All cadets are urged to try out for the staff. There is always a place on it for those who are interested and who are willing to try. It is the desire of the BULL DOG staff to make the paper one of the best in the South. With the cooperation of all, this goal should soon be reached.

The senior staff elected for the coming year is led by J. C. McFadden, Editor-in-Chief; R. H. Cowan, Managing Editor; P. M. Nicholes, Business Manager; and M. A. Levinson, News Editor.

THE BULL DOG ORCHESTRA

Under Greg MacLeod, the Bull Dog Orchestra has become one of the best orchestra of its kind in the country. During the past year the Bull Dogs enjoyed a splendid reputation all over the State. Besides playing for all the "Messhalls", the informal dances given by the Cadet Corps, they accepted many invitations in Charleston and in several other places over the State. A number of programs were broadcast over W. C. S. C., the Charleston radio station.

ROUND TABLE

The Round Table was formed in 1927 as a substitute for the old-fashioned literary society. Lieutenant Lyon was the moving spirit in its organization.

It is believed that this is the only organization of its kind in existence. It is composed of twenty-five cadets and several faculty members. The members are chosen from those cadets who evince some literary ability, and to be a member is considered a great honor. At its meetings, held bi-monthly, questions of a literary, scientific, or historical nature are discussed, each member being allowed to present his views on the subject under discussion. The club sponsors the debating and oratorical teams. Membership is by invitation only, and each new member must be approved by the faculty. For its emblem of membership the club has a key similar to an honorary fraternity key. Every year the organization subscribes to one of the "Book of the Month" clubs and at the end of the year donates the books that it receives to The Citadel Library.

THE SPHINX

The Sphinx, the year-book of The Citadel, is one of the major publications of the Corps of Cadets. It represents the continuous toil of an earnest, patient staff, which takes a pride in producing a book which may be called a real artistic achievement.

Talent for this publication comes from the student body alone, and the contents of the Sphinx are dependent upon the interesting incidents of cadet life. The cooperation of the student body will be of great help to the editors in catching, organizing, and portaying these incidents which make up the spirit and life of the college.

GLEE CLUB

For a number of years the Corps of Cadets has staged an annual show called the Pass-in-Review. This name is derived from a part of our military dress parades. Until 1929 the show had always taken the form of a minstrel; but in that year the type was changed to a musical comedy. However, in 1931 the original form was resumed with a record success. In 1932 and '33, under the direction of Captain C. F. Myers and Mr. R. J. Voight much time was given to the development of the musical parts of the show and produced a minstrel which also rendered some of the finest of glee club music. Besides performances in Charleston, several trips are made to other South Carolina cities. The glee club is one of the most popular activities at The Citadel.

MISCELLANEOUS

Your success means more to those at home than to anyone else. Their interest means more to you. Think of them in the rough places along the road—and the slick.
